Below is a list of the Rules that are potentially affected. For complete details, please see the petition, which include the complete text of the rules and changes.

Rule 1.0 (terminology): addition of language on e-mail and electronic matter.

Rule 1.1 (competence): two new comments on using lawyers outside the firm.

Rule 1.4 (communication): change language from telephone calls to communications.

Rule 1.6 (confidentiality): A provision is added that permits some disclosure of information to detect and resolve conflicts of interests, and a provision requiring reasonable efforts to prevent the inadvertent or unauthorized disclosure of confidentiality. Three explanatory Comments are added.

Rule 1.8(c) (gift to lawyer): the word "spouse" is inserted. The word was inadvertently omitted in 2005.

Rule 1.17 (sale of law practice): cross-references are inserted.

Rule 1.18 (duties to prospective client): Clarifying language and a comment are inserted. It removes any protection for a client who communicates with a lawyer for the purpose of disqualifying the lawyer.

Rule 4.4 (respect for rights of third persons): the language is expanded and clarified to cover electronically stored information.

Rule 5.3 (responsibilities regarding non-lawyer assistance): two comments are added, discussing the use of non-lawyers outside the firm, such as investigative services, document management companies and printing and scanning services.

Rule 5.5 (unauthorized practice of law): minor changes in language.

Rules 7.1-7.3 (advertising and solicitation): [See discussion in the Petition] Changes: language on electronic communications and email is clarified or added; Comment 2 to Rule 7.1 on truthful statements in advertising (such as achievements on behalf of prior clients) is inserted; Rule 7.3(a) is rewritten for clarity; the term "prospective client" is removed because it is inconsistent with Rule 1.18; Comment 1 to Rule 7.3 clarifies what is and is not an improper solicitation.
