The Administrative Office of the Courts

The Administrative Office of the Courts is a state agency within the judicial branch of government, operating under the direction of the Arkansas Supreme Court. The agency provides services to the court system, state and local government, and the public. Such services include training and continuing education for trial and appellate court judges, district judges, court clerks, court reporters, case coordinators, and law clerks. The Administrative Office of the Courts also provides a public education component to help educate students and private citizens about the court system.

Several attorneys provide ongoing legal assistance to all judges and local officials. Specific legal research requests are accepted and major policy proposals and research are completed on behalf of the Judicial Council, the Supreme Court, the Governor's office, and the General Assembly.

A staff of automation and technology specialists receive data from all courts in the state, manage a centralized case management system, and are responsible for the implementation of all technology projects within the state.

The Alternate Dispute Resolution Commission is responsible for the implementation of ADR programs, education, and the certification of ADR professionals.

Other areas within the Administrative Office of the Courts which utilize the services of interns include the Court Appointed Special Advocates program, the Language Access Program, which is responsible for foreign language interpretation and services to the hearing and sight impaired for all courts in the state, and the Supreme Court Historical Society.

INTERNSHIP PROGRAMS

The internship program at the Administrative Office of the Courts is designed to provide opportunities for undergraduate and graduate students to experience a government sector workplace within the state judicial branch. Contact with judges and judicial branch employees and work in the development and application of law and policy will give interns the opportunity to gain “real world” experience. The specific internship experience will be designed in consultation with the student’s faculty advisors at the college/university. The Administrative Office of the Courts offers internships in the following areas: Court Appointed Special Advocates, Judicial Education, Legislative, Library, Court Information Services, Historical Society and Research.

An application for internship is enclosed and should be submitted with a cover letter, resume, and two letters of recommendation.

Internship sessions are scheduled in accordance with the academic terms: spring, fall, and summer. Application submission deadlines are as follows:

Spring term	December 1
Fall term	August 1
Summer term	May 1

Candidates for internship programs will be selected on the basis of academic standing, field of study, expressed interest and experience. The number of applicants and the types of internships requested will also impact the number of internships offered during any particular term. Prospective interns may be requested to participate in an interview with the internship sponsor at the Administrative Office of the Courts.

The number of hours required for participation in the internship program will be determined in consultation with the applicant’s college/university. Credit hours may also be earned for participation in the internship program as determined by the college/university. Upon satisfactory completion of the internship program a stipend in the amount of $1200.00 will be awarded.
