JURISDICTIONS DETERMINED TO NOT BE RECIPROCAL

The following jurisdictions have been reviewed by the Arkansas State Board of Law Examiners. It has been determined their admission on motion provisions are sufficiently dissimilar from the Arkansas admission on motion rule to decline recognition of them as “reciprocal” jurisdictions.

Alabama	New Mexico
Arizona	Rhode Island
Indiana	Virginia
Michigan	West Virginia

JURISDICTIONS FOR WHICH RECIPROCAL STATUS HAS NOT BEEN DETERMINED

Connecticut	South Dakota
Maine	Vermont
North Dakota	Wyoming
Oregon

JURISDICTIONS WHICH DO NOT ALLOW ADMISSION ON MOTION

According to the most recent volume of the Comprehensive Guide to Bar Admission Requirements, a publication of the National Conference of Bar Examiners, the following jurisdictions do not allow admission on motion. Section 1.(d) of the Arkansas Admission on Motion rule requires that the state in which the applicant attorney has or had his or her "principal place of business for the practice of law" or "was or is domiciled and admitted" must allow admission on motion to Arkansas attorneys. Hence, if your "principal place of business" or "domicile" is in one of the jurisdictions mentioned below, you will not be allowed admission on motion in this jurisdiction. Since rules can change from time to time, you are encouraged to contact any of the jurisdictions listed below to determine if they have recently changed their admission on motion provision.

California	Montana
Delaware	Nevada
Florida	New Jersey
Hawaii	South Carolina
Louisiana	Guam
Maryland	N. Mariana Islands
Montana	Palau
Nevada	Puerto Rico
South Carolina	Virgin Islands
