

On the Courthouse Square in Arkansas

by

John Purifoy Gill and Marjem Jackson Gill

138 pages, illustrated (c. 1980)

This photographic documentary highlights Arkansas's county and federal courthouses.

Husband and wife John and Marjem Gill combine their knowledge of the law, Arkansas history and architecture.

“... an engaging pictorial and verbal record of the most historical monuments of our civil life in the last century, the county courthouses.

It sounds prosaic, but lawyers, architecture buffs, local history enthusiasts, or anyone with a trace of hometown chauvinism will find it fascinating.” – Ernie Dumas, Associate Editor, Arkansas Gazette

“This book is a treasure for Arkansas lawyers It will be of great interest to scholars of Arkansas legal history.” – Robert K. Walsh, Dean, School of Law, University of Arkansas at Little Rock “Truly a remarkable book; one that every Arkansan or Arkansawyer must have in his library.” -- John J. Truemper, Jr., FAIA, President Arkansas State Board of Architects.

Cost is $40 plus $3.95 shipping. For each copy purchased through The Arkansas Supreme Court Historical Society, Inc., the authors generously donate to the Society a portion of the proceeds. To order, please submit your check, payable to ASCHS, for $43.95, to:

The Arkansas Supreme Court Historical Society, Inc.
625 Marshall Street, Suite 1500
Little Rock, Arkansas 72201